Nazimova, supreme star of the stage, has achieved an added triumph in her latest screen production, "Out of the Fog," to be shown at the Palace Theatre, Ardmore, on Wednesday. This play is an adoption of her great stage success, " 'Ception Shoals," which created great comment both here and abroad and was noted for the intensity of its dramatic situations.

A beginners' course of ten lectures in practical playground work will be started next week at the Community Centre in the Bryn Mawr Public School on Lancaster Pike. The idea is to train assistants to local playground directors.

The course will include paper and cardboard construction, sloyd, modelling and water color. Enrollment and the first lecture will take place on Friday, April 25th, at 4.30.

The course is open to anyone, and will be continued on Tuesday and Friday afternoons at the same hour (4.30) until completed on May 27th.

Tribute to Home Guards

The Home Guards who responded to the orders of Captain Hartley to assemble at the headquarters in Elm Hall Wednesday evening were surprised to find a home talent orchestra on the stage rendering patriotic music, as they entered the drill room. Things then followed in rapid succession, so rapid, in fact, that the Guards were continually kept "on their toes" as to what might happen next.

A short regular business meeting was conducted by the Captain. This developed the information that the Guard is still going to continue as the Home Guards of Narberth, meeting once each month for drill and business purposes, and they will at all times be available for such duties as may be required of them in policing the town or in preserving order in cases of emergency; that according to Treasurer Haws there is $27.44 in the treasury, and that one of their primary objects as an organization is to see to it that the men who were in the service of their country during the War, receive proper recognition in the way of a permanent memorial.

Hon. Fletcher Stites paid a splendid tribute to the men for the unselfish spirit they had shown, and the patriotic impulse which had inspired them to take their positions for the past two years, in the front line trenches at home, which were only second in importance to the front line trenches "over there."

Mr. Stites was followed by Mrs. G. M. Davis in a humorous reading, "The Coon Hunt," which was rendered so well as to produce continuous spasms of laughter. "Bill" Newborg almost had a "fit." Other speakers were Rev. A. S. Demmy, Rev. John Van Ness and Rev. Frank M. Gray, all of whom spoke for the organizations they represented as well as for themselves, and highly praising the Narberth Guard for its very commendable work.

The Narberth Quartette, Mrs. Stanley and Mrs. Butler, Messrs. Bowen and Stanley, rendered several selections. The entire assemblage was brought to its feet when Mrs. Fred. C. Patten closed the entertainment program by playing "The Star-Spangled Banner" on the cornet. A general all-round good time followed when the real party began and ice cream, cake and pretzels were passed around to everybody.

Here and Hereabouts

To the Editor of Our Town:

Now, maybe I shouldn't be saying a word about it at all, Cub, but it would appear to me, between ourselves, of course, you know, that this Notions person only comes to court when it's more than a one-sided argument, you see, a bit of a tilt, perhaps, and when that's not the case perforce he must lay his querulousness on the shelf and bide the further advent of the Poet or the Booster, or if you're away, mayhap the Boomerang. You will see, then, that Notions has no place in this column, as wouldn't it be a pretty thing, now, for you to find when you came back from the lay-offs which are enforced on you by the terrible vexations of the income tax, or by your investigations of the past record of the gardener, a fine brawl on your hands, and you not starting it at all? We'll keep Notions out of here, Cub, depend on that, but when you're making steady time again it's altogether likely he'll find something to be cantankerous about. And if you'll be asking his wife, maybe she'll say that won't be hard for him at all.

* * *

With the construction underway, and that which is said to be contemplated for early completion, Narbrook Park is likely to soon be the fine place it was calculated to be, and we'll all be glad of that. It's a curious condition there, with the Borough collecting its full quota of taxes from the house and lot owners, and yet regarding the Park as separate and a thing apart from the rest of the town, a posture of affairs we could hardly get by with if we did not have a real Philadelphia barrister at the helm of our legal department. It's true the owners bought with full knowledge of the facts, that all the town facilities could not be assured them unless a certain taxable amount was forthcoming, but it's a business proposition that you have to spend money to make money, and it is altogether probable that the Borough might have stimulated the Park's progress, and incidentally furthered its own exchequer, by doing a mite more than it was obliged to do, and if the question is asked as to where the money necessary to do these things could be procured, the answer might be that the excellent executive qualities and resources of our governing body will surely devise the ways and means, and yet not hurt anybody nor any other town utility. It's a fine index of character, is living in the Park, for only a sober man, strictly so, could find his house at night, and a troubled conscience would be ill at odds there with the tremendous darkness that befalls the place when the sun goes down. We're not so badly off, are we, that we can't put up a few lights, anyhow, in this splendid addition to the town, and here's hoping that at least that much will be done real soon.

* * *

And speaking of the fact that you usually have to spend money to make money, and also considering that the hardware man has decided to stay in our midst, having learned apparently that Narberth is a pretty good place in which to do business, people coming into his store that were never there before, y' understand, the Spectator refers to the town merchants the guess that has been made that more than $100,000 annually is spent outside of Narberth by residents of Narberth for food and household necessities. Precious little, or nothing, does he know about retail business, and it's a foolish fellow who will essay to teach his grandmother how to suck eggs, but it would be a great pity if this fine business is being lost on account of a wrong conception of Narberth's facilities to supply it, as not only do the merchants lose by the present state of affairs, but the town itself is obviously handicapped when so much money leaves it. It seems to be worth more than a passing thought, Mr Merchant, and if you think Our Town is the best place to exploit your wares, to correct the erroneous notions folks may have about your stocks and facilities, why, I think Harry Jacobs will think so, too, and it's a generous space he will allow you on a $500 annual contract. Don't say that our little paper is not effective, that it won't do the trick, for it will if you do your part, by saying your say in an attractive way, with facts and figures, with the kind of service the town must have, by keeping everlastingly at it, avoiding as you would the plague the tombstone variety of "advertising" in which small places like this sometimes indulge. If you are entitled to your share of this outgoing trade you ought to get it, and if you are not entitled to it you ought to arrange so that you shall be. And the more serviceable Our Town is made, the more effective it is going to be for all of us, buyers and sellers.

* * *

I'm wondering how many more organizations have elected Bob Edgar Secretary since I started to write this.

THE SPECTATOR.

The Senior Play

Those who were fortunate enough to be part of the enthusiastic audience in our High School auditorium on last Saturday evening, have nothing but praise for the entire cast of "A Strenuous Life." From the time the curtain parted and the trim form of the Japanese maid became visible, to the time when the same maid decided the fate of several of the people involved, the Senior Class provided no dull moments, but instead a series of cleverly acted scenes, which satisfied both the lover of good fun and the critic of dramatic art.

Each actor and actress deserves special commendation. The hero, George Rose, proved a very clever, versatile actor, succeeding both in his love scenes and in others where an entirely different type of skill was required. No wonder the audience had only words of praise for him! In the scenes between him and his chum, Tom Martin, both actors were successful in being natural. Tom's enthusiasm helped in many a scene. Many a person extended his heartfelt appreciation to John Schaffer for a good hearty laughh. It isn't so easy to be really funny when you know you are supposed to be. As a paternal guide, Gilbert Ford is a splendid example to follow. His hearty "Just like his father," will be long remembered. Philip Livingston's clever interpretation of the professor was worthy of praise. His part, as also that taken by Jessie Ballingall, showed a great deal of thought. To say Fred Harsch proved a typical Westerner is to say he succeeded. Dorothy Wilson won out by showing so clearly the lights and shades of the landlady's character. John Wilson proved himself master of a difficult situation, while Elizabeth Miesen's acting showed there was a reason for the college boys liking the widow. Last, but not least, was the part played by Florence Haaf. Our quiet Florence showed she could be firm when the occasion demanded.

Mary Chalfont, Eleanor Eyre and Elizabeth Miller were just the right girls for their parts. People feel that Eleanor would bestow a great honor on the public if she would frequent the stage more often. Many others, beside a certain young man, were said to be justly proud of Elizabeth Miller. And no one will believe that Mary Chalfant has not had much experience as an actress.

Thanks are due to Miss M. L. Boynton for so well guiding the talent.

The cast of characters follows:

The decorations in the Presbyterian Church for Easter Sunday will be furnished by Mrs. Isabel P. Humphries, the Westminster Circle, and others, and will be arranged by a committee from the Ladies' Aid Society.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized last Wednesday afternoon at the home of Louis F. Smith, on Righters Mill Road, Narberth. The contracting parties were Miss Gertrude K. Smith and Mr. Arthur J. Yunker. The officiating clergyman was Rev. John Van Ness, of the Presbyterian Church, of which both bride and groom are members.

Scout News

The Tuesday night session was devoted to rehearsal for the coming Minstrel Show. "Better each time" is the slogan, and the end men went "over the top" with the most delightful imitation of the South "befo' de wah" dialect you ever heard. New, fresh, witty, sparkling and effervescent are the jokes that would turn a Georgia darkey green with envy. So the work goes on to make the Minstrel Show the real thing of the season. If the folks of Narberth only realized what the Boy Scouts are going to put on, there would be no question about filling Elm Hall to the doors with an endless throng on the street struggling to get in.

The boys are all just as enthusiastic over the show as they have always been whenever there is a duty to perform. We have always loyally and cheerfully delivered the goods for Narberth, so now we only ask you to buy a ticket, pay your money and get double its cost in good cheer. The proceeds are for a good cause, to help make life more comfortable and more cheerful for the Narberth Scouts in camp this summer. Remember the time and place. Minstrel Show and Dance. Starts 8 P. M., Elm Hall, Friday, April 25th.

Medals earned by Scouts for patriotic services will be awarded that night. Come and be proud of what your Scouts have done.

One word, buy your tickets now. Do it to-day.

MERDA.

Say, fellers, did yuh ever here uv a "Jazz Band," that's it? Wun will fernish the lifeliest noise Narberth ever heerd at the "Skouts' Menstrel Show." Jess tin- reel Jazz Band. Hole bunch of black faice komedians with yaller, grene, red, an' all culured sutes on. Den sum meduls an' de boys and gurls havin' a dance afterwards. Rich, ain't it? Merda sez shut up, so I ges dis is all fer dis weak.

PUG NO. 1.

The Women's Auxiliary

A sale of home-made cake, bread, pies, etc., will be held on Saturday, April 26th, in the vacant store, Y. M. C. A. Block, on Haverford avenue, from 11 until 1 o'clock. The prices asked for all donations will be popular, and as the revenue from this sale will be used in opening a "New Roof" fund, we will be very much gratified if the friends of the Y. M. C. A. will keep us very busy during those two hours.

RUMMAGE SALE.

As it seems that nearly every housewife is either preparing to move or clean house during the coming month, the Auxiliary will be very glad to relieve you of all "white elephants" in the nature of wedding gifts that are not being used, second-hand furniture, pictures, china, clothes, or anything that we can dispose of in a sale to be held at an early date.

Will you kindly save all such donations for us, and notify either Mrs. D. D. Stickney, President, or Mrs. C. E. Kreamer, Vice-President?

The next regular meeting will be held on Monday, May 5th, at 8 P. M. All husbands of members will be gladly welcomed at 9 o'clock.

DEATH OF MRS. JEFFERSON YOWELL.

The many friends and neighbors of Jefferson Yowell and family, of Windsor avenue, sympathize with them in the great loss which they have sustained.

Mrs. Yowell died on Monday evening. Until the previous Saturday she had been in her usual health. On Saturday evening she suffered a stroke, which rendered her unconscious, and from which she did not rally

Suffrage Notes

FIFTIETH ANNUAL CONVENTION.

The fiftieth annual convention of the Pennsylvania Woman Suffrage Association opened on Wednesday evening, April 9, with a dinner in the Rose Garden of the Bellevue-Stratford. Narberth was well represented with 24 present among the six hundred guests. The after dinner speakers included Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, Mrs. Medil McCormick, Mrs. Richard Aldrich, Lieutenant Colonel Frederick Palmer and Gifford Pinchot.

On Thursday the convention was opened by prayer by Dr. C. Edward McCartney. A welcome to Philadelphia was extended by E. J. Cattell and greetings from the Philadelphia suffragists by Mrs. George A. Piersol. Mrs. John O. Miller, the State President, and Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, the National President, gave most interesting addresses. The business meeting was followed by a buffet luncheon. The afternoon speakers included Mrs. George A. Piersol, who gave a summary of the St. Louis Convention; John H. Mason, who spoke for the Victory Loan, and Kenneth L. M. Pray gave a review of pending legislative methods.

Mrs. Bertha Papazian's soul-stirring appeal for the Armenian women was followed by a talk on the health of the coming generation by Dr. Martha Tracy, Dean of the Woman's Medical College. The interest shown in the convention by the large and enthusiastic attendance at the dinner and the meetings proved that the suffrage movement is growing beyond expectations, and there is no doubt that the fight for democracy is almost over.

SUFFRAGE CONFERENCE.

On Tuesday, April 22, at 3.30 P. M., a suffrage conference will be held in the Concert Hall of the Presser Building, 1712 Chestnut street.

"Impressions and Inspiration, Helps and Hints from the National and State Conventions" will be presented by speakers who were present at both conventions, after which tea will be served. You are invited to be present.

We will be glad to book order for Jeddo Coal during the month of April at prices prevailing in Philadelphia and vicinity.

Most of you know that this coal is the best that comes to market, and to those of you who don't, we have no hesitancy in proclaiming the fact that if better coal exists anywhere in the wide earth it has not as yet been discovered.

Our thought is that the Coal Business will be slow this Spring and Summer, to be followed by a stampede in the Fall. Take our advice and order early, and don't forget to order from us, where you will get good coal and lots of appreciation furnished f. o. b. with the goods.

The above department should be of the greatest use to the community, the list contains the name of every professional man, tradesman, mechanic, shopkeeper, etc., who does or can in any way serve his fellow-townsman, and who is progressive enough to add name to list of Register.

As it is difficult for those contributing their time and efforts to the production of "Our Town" to personally either know or interview all such, it would be most helpful if those not now found in the printed list would send in a memo of their names, address, phone numbers and businesses or professions for listing. This will cost as follows: 10 cents each issue for 2 lines; 5 cents for each additional line.
